

CLOSE MORE. STRESS LESS. — DAVE COLE, REI & REO REALTY LLC

MODULE 05 · PDF GUIDE + AUDIO (528HZ)

Abundance vs Scarcity

The energy you bring to your business is not invisible. Clients feel it. Deals feel it. Your pipeline feels it. This module explains why — and how to shift from scarcity to abundance at will.

The Energy Problem Nobody Talks About

There's a conversation that happens in real estate training all the time about scripts, objection handlers, and closing techniques. And those things matter. But there's a layer underneath all of that — an energetic layer — that most training completely ignores.

Here's the truth that 25 years of real estate has taught me: the energy you bring into an interaction determines the outcome more than the words you use.

You can have the perfect listing presentation. Perfect stats. Perfect marketing plan. And if you walk in needing that listing — if the scarcity is radiating off you — you will lose to the agent who walked in with quiet confidence and genuine abundance.

Clients are wired to detect desperation. It's a primal social signal that says "this person needs something from me." And when people feel that energy, they unconsciously pull back. They take more time. They shop around. They find reasons to say no.

Abundance energy says: "I have value to offer. I'm here to serve you. Whether you choose me or not, I will be fine."

Scarcity energy says: "I need this. Please choose me. I'm not sure I'm enough."

The first energy attracts. The second repels. And clients feel both without being able to articulate why.

Scarcity vs Abundance — The Full Picture

⚠ Scarcity State

- Chasing leads instead of attracting them
- Over-explaining your value because you don't fully believe it
- Checking your phone constantly for responses
- Anxious between deals — "what if this is the last one"
- Discounting your commission under pressure
- Talking too much in appointments
- Making decisions from fear rather than strategy

✓ Abundance State

- Attracting leads through genuine service and presence
- Stating your value clearly and without apology
- Trusting the process between deals
- Confident that the market always has opportunity
- Holding your commission because you know your worth
- Listening deeply — letting silence do the work

- Comparing yourself to other agents constantly
- Celebrating every yes and crashing on every no

- Making strategic decisions from a calm baseline
- Running your own race, unconcerned with other agents
- Detached from outcomes — committed to effort and service

The Root of Scarcity Thinking

Scarcity thinking isn't a character flaw. It's a nervous system response. When your income feels uncertain, your brain's threat-detection system activates — because in evolutionary terms, resource scarcity is a survival threat. Your brain cannot tell the difference between "no commissions this month" and "no food this winter." It responds the same way.

The result is a cortisol-driven, threat-focused mental state that makes you less creative, less magnetic, and less effective — exactly when you need to be more of all three.

This is why you can't simply decide to feel abundant. The nervous system needs to actually shift. And that's where the 528Hz frequency session comes in.

Why 528Hz for Abundance

528Hz is known as the "Love Frequency" — but a more accurate description for our purposes is the abundance frequency. It's the frequency associated with positive transformation, emotional healing, and what researchers describe as a shift from contracted (scarcity) to expanded (abundance) states.

When your nervous system is running in scarcity mode, it is literally contracted — tight, defensive, closed. The 528Hz session gently opens that contracted state and allows your nervous system to expand back into its natural abundance baseline.

You don't have to believe in the science for it to work. You just need to listen.

The Scarcity Diagnostic

Exercise — Where Is Your Scarcity Showing Up?

Rate yourself honestly on each item below (1 = rarely, 5 = frequently):

1. I feel anxious when my pipeline is thin: ____

2. I check my phone/email compulsively waiting for responses: ____

3. I discount my commission when clients push back: ____

4. I feel desperate energy when I really need a deal to close: ____

5. I compare my production to other agents and feel behind: ____

6. I talk too much in listing appointments instead of listening: ____

7. I feel like there isn't enough business for everyone in my market: ____

Score 7-14: You're operating mostly from abundance. Fine-tune.

Score 15-25: Moderate scarcity patterns. This module will make a real difference.

Score 26-35: Significant scarcity running. Prioritize the 528Hz session daily for 7 days.

The Daily Abundance Practice

This 5-minute daily practice is the fastest way to shift from scarcity to abundance. Do it in the morning, after your Morning Success Routine.

The 5-Minute Abundance Reset

Minute 1 — Evidence of Abundance

Write or mentally list 3 things that prove the market is abundant right now. Not your market — the market in general. Deals closing. People buying. Inventory moving. The real estate industry is always working, somewhere, for someone.

Minute 2 — Your Abundance Evidence

List 3 specific pieces of evidence from your own career that prove you are capable, valuable, and worth choosing. Past wins. Satisfied clients. Complex deals you navigated. This is not arrogance — it's accurate accounting.

Minute 3 — Service Statement

Complete this statement: "Today I will serve my clients by..."
Fill it in specifically. When your focus is on service rather than commission, abundance energy flows naturally.

Minutes 4-5 — Detachment Declaration

Silently or aloud: "I will do excellent work today. I will serve with full intention. I release attachment to specific outcomes, trusting that excellent work consistently done produces excellent results." Repeat 3 times.

Holding Your Commission

One of the most tangible places scarcity shows up is commission negotiation. An agent operating from scarcity will fold under pressure because their nervous system reads the client's pushback as a threat — and gives in to make the threat go away.

An agent operating from abundance can hear "your commission is too high" with genuine calm and respond from a place of certainty: "I understand. Let me explain exactly what you're getting for that fee and why it protects your interests in this transaction."

The words are the same for every agent. The energy behind them determines who wins.

Your Action Steps for Module 5

1. Complete the Scarcity Diagnostic and note your score
2. Identify your top 2 scarcity patterns from the table above
3. Practice the 5-Minute Abundance Reset for 7 consecutive mornings
4. Listen to the 528Hz Abundance Activation audio session
5. Before your next listing appointment — do the 5-minute practice first. Notice the difference in how you feel walking in.

Next: Module 6 — Sleep Like a Top Producer

The 20-minute nightly session that separates you from your work and sets up tomorrow's success.

Close More. Stress Less. · Dave Cole, REI & REO Realty LLC · hello@aethura.app

© 2026 All rights reserved. For personal use only.